Dear Parents

4th February 2014

ECO COUNCIL DESIGN A T-SHIRT COMPETITION

The school's Eco Council has decided to launch a competition to raise some money to buy plants for the classrooms and other school rooms. Earlier in the year we conducted an eco-review and discovered that we hardly had any plants around the school so we want to put this right!

The deadline for entries is Friday 28th February 2014 (the Friday after half term). The task is to design a t-shirt that has an eco message on it. You can portray any eco-message on your t-shirt from saving water to recycling to encouraging people to walk to school more often. You can decide! Just make sure your message is clear.

T-shirts can be purchased from school for £3 which includes your £1 competition entry fee or you can buy your own t-shirt to design (it must be plain white and short sleeved) and enter the competition for £1. To buy a t-shirt from school, visit Mrs Stroud with your money and she will provide one, however, there is a limited stock in a range of sizes. Once this stock has gone, you will have to buy your own t-shirt in order to enter.

You can decorate your t-shirt with any materials that you like including pens, paints, fabric, sequins, recycled materials etc. You can decorate the whole t-shirt or just the front; it is completely up to you.

The competition will be judged by a committee and members of the Eco Council who have not entered. There will be a winner in every class and possibly runners up if there are lots of amazing entries. These people will win a prize. All entrants will be able to keep their t-shirts after the competition and we hope to put photos of all of the entries on the school website.

We hope you all choose to enter our competition and support the Eco Council in their quest to make the school a greener and more eco-friendly place.

If you have any questions, please feel free to speak to a member of the Eco Council, Mrs Stroud or Mrs Wallis.

Happy designing!!
