To the whole School

This year our focus is writing but it's also national year of reading.

During the Easter holidays the School Council would love for you to send in photos of you reading in your favourite places and perhaps unusual places. Where do you like reading? We can't wait to see the photos.

We have come up with an idea that combines the school's love for reading and writing. We would like you to write a short or long synopsis of your favourite book. Why do you like reading it? What are the characters like? Why should other children read it? You can include a picture/ front cover of the book.

All entries are £1. There will be 3 winners from across the school and they will win a book token.

We will then collate all of the entries into our very own Potten End Anthology, which will be placed in the library for all to enjoy.

As the School Council we thought that this would be a fantastic inspirational idea.

Many thanks

The School Council.
